

374 PAGES, PAPER,
0-8308-2836-2, $25.00
AVAILABLE APRIL 2006
SCIENCE AND FAITH

With the publication of Darwin on Trial in 1991, Cal Berkeley legal scholar Phillip Johnson became the leading figure in the intelligent design movement. This book reviews and celebrates Johnson's life and work and the movement for which he has served as chief architect. The eighteen essays included by editor William A. Dembski provide personal and in-depth insight into the man, his convictions and his leadership of the intellectual movement that called into question the hegemony of Darwinian theory.

- Reviews and celebrates Phillip Johnson as founder of the intelligent design movement
- Highlights intellectual issues raised by the intelligent design movement
- Includes a foreword by Senator Rick Santorum
- Concludes with a reflection by Phillip Johnson

Contributors include

Stephen Meyer, Michael Behe, Jay Wesley Richards, Thomas Woodward, Francis Beckwith, Timothy Standish, David Berlinski, Michael Ruse, David Keller, Jonathan Wells, Scott Minnich, Nancy Pearcey, Jay Budziszewski, Marcus Ross, Paul Nelson, Henry Schaefer III, Wesley Allen, Walter

Darwin's Nemesis

Phillip Johnson and the Intelligent Design Movement

EDITED BY WILLIAM A. DEMBSKI

William A. Dembski (Ph.D.'s., University of Chicago and University of Illinois at Chicago) is the Carl F. H. Henry Professor of Theology and Science at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky. He is also a senior fellow of the Discovery Institute's Center for Science and Culture.